LUND UNIVERSITY

Massive Open Online Course (MOOC)

Writing in English at University

The MOOC* Writing in English at University is a free resource for university students who are currently involved in writing assignments or degree projects as well as for students who wish to learn about academic writing in order to prepare for future writing tasks at university.

Although the course provides guidance to all student writers, it targets specifically those who are writing in second language learner contexts and whose native language is not English.

As well as helping learners to put together their own "toolbox" of academic writing skills, Writing in English at University will give participants a chance to test out some of these tools, and to reflect on their own development as writers.

With flexible enrolment, learners can spend as much time as they need on a module or they can speed up the pace of their studies, depending on what suits them and their particular learning styles.

THE COURSE IS DIVIDED INTO FOUR MODULES
1. Writing in English at university: An introduction
2. Structuring your text and conveying your argument
3. Using sources in academic writing
4. The writer's toolbox: Editing and proofreading

READ MORE AND SIGN UP HERE
www.coursera.org/learn/writing-english-university

*This Lund University MOOC is open to all learners. Please note that you cannot include this MOOC as a part of a degree or receive university credits for it.

www.lub.lu.se/en/services-and-activities/student-support/academic-writing/
open-online-courses